

I am placing another 'best practice' before you from the Missouri Wing.

During this current national high 'orange' terror alert, the Missouri Wing is sending out an electronic message to all Missouri Members regarding the status of the Wing. This message is sent out daily from LTC Jim Corvey. The message content will have the 'alert message' from National, the status of communications stations, and instructions for crews and teams to report to a mission coordinator if their contact status has changed. I was unable to attach the latest messages from MOWG, so if you ask and wish to see the content, please contact LTC Corvey to have him send you an example.

This truly is one of the 'best practices' I have seen and quite an aid for the members of the MOWG. If your Wing is doing something similar, please let me know. If your Wing is not currently informing your membership, you may want to consider the MOWG method. It is good. As a responder, I would find it very useful.

My congratulations to LTC Corvey, Col Casler, and the entire MOWG for this effort and 'best practice'.

Bruce Marxsen
Director of Emergency Services
NCR